Manning Lee Stokes wrote several volumes of the Nick Carter: Killmaster series, and supposedly is the series author who came up with the idea to have the novels be narrated by Carter himself. The Golden Serpent (which is stated as taking place in 1966) predates this first-person switchover and thus is told in third person, which as I've mentioned too many times is the style I prefer for the men's adventure genre.

The Nick Carter-Killmaster espionage thrillers were published at the rate of baseball cards (1964-1990), so it's easy to forgive a little repetition. Trademarked by Conde Nast, the titular hero also doubles as the pseudonym used by a post-Vietnam span of Ian Fleming-wannabes—who sadly never received byline credit.
